

The Texas Compassionate Use Program

MaggieFitz Photography

TEXAS COMPASSIONATE USE ACT

Under the Texas Compassionate Use Act, certain patients with intractable epilepsy may legally obtain low-THC cannabis oil through state-licensed dispensaries.

To qualify for CBD oil, patients with intractable epilepsy must be permanent residents of Texas and must obtain a prescription from a qualified physician who specializes in the field of examining, diagnosing and treating epilepsy.

Learn more via the Texas Department of Public Safety: bit.ly/texas-cbd

Chris Reichman, Sum & Substance

CANNABIDIOL FOR EPILEPSY

Approximately 30 percent of people with epilepsy don't respond well to conventional treatments, but cannabidiol (CBD), a nonpsychoactive compound found in the cannabis plant, has emerged as a promising alternative treatment option.

Research indicates CBD treatments may decrease the frequency of convulsive seizures in some patients suffering with intractable epilepsy, and numerous patients and caregivers have come forward in recent years reporting positive responses to CBD-based medicine.

Chris Reichman, Sum & Substance

ABOUT COMPASSIONATE CULTIVATION

Compassionate Cultivation is a home-grown medical cannabis company serving patients throughout Texas. We are dedicated to growing, processing and dispensing the purest, highest-quality CBD medicine to help reduce the cycle of suffering for those with intractable epilepsy in the Lone Star State.

Together with our patients and their physicians, Compassionate Cultivation is focused on delivering high-quality, locally grown and processed low-THC cannabis oil for those who need it most.

Contact Compassionate Cultivation: Prescribers and patients, call 512-467-4118
For general queries, email info@texasoriginalcc.com or call 512-614-0343
Web: texasoriginalcc.com || On social media: @CBDTexas
12701 Lowden Lane (Building 501) Manchaca, TX 78652
Compassionate Cultivation LLC, Texas License #0005